Union Wharf

Union Wharf is a brand new development situated in Greenwich, London. Located on the banks of the lush Deptford Creek the scheme is split between two towers; with the 22-story tower featuring one and two bedroom apartments aimed at young, vibrant and varied renters.

The smaller 11 story tower is the first BTR development designed towards the family market and includes larger apartments of two and three bedrooms. In the Amenity Spaces we continued the warmth of the walnut as seen in the apartments and complemented it with rich velvets. Residents have space to relax and recline in social areas with a mixture of plush sofas and inviting armchairs, whilst in dining areas residents can socialise around oversized walnut tables, high backed barstools and intimate occasional armchairs. The colour palette in these areas has been kept muted, with a high end feel, incorporating smoky greys, softs teals and chocolate browns.

Anaconda Cut

The UK's second tallest tower dedicated to a Build to Rent community, designed and built to enhance the lives of its residents. Anaconda Cut sits in the Greengate area and comprises of 349 spacious one, two and three-bedroom apartments across 44 storeys. Offering a luxury rental experience with onsite amenity spaces and stunning views from a roof top terrace.

For the Amenity Space we created a space that was sympathetic and reflective of the quality in the existing fixtures and materials. The use of geometry is apparent in the circular light fittings and the geometric wall panels which we wanted to translate into the furniture and textures used. Mixing the use of carved woods with brass detailing, velvet fabrics and round pouffes created warmth, versatility and interest to the space. Both areas of the amenity space have high ceilings and a light and airy feel, we kept the colours tonal with a pop of teal to add some contrast.

White City

With a soft contemporary take on Art Deco inspired architecture, we created the amenity space within White City to be an inspirational space whilst also being practical for students to work in. Positioned within a conservation area the building's exterior is sympathetic to its surrounding area.

To carry this through into the interiors and combined with the clients brief to have an authentic and industrial look, we incorporated quality pieces with a rustic look. Featuring a mixture of plush leather armchairs, Chesterfield sofas and timber finishes we gave students an environment adaptable for work, rest and play.
